

Dear Supervisors,

Please be assured that Texas StudySync is a full print and digital product for Proclamation 2020.

The Texas Education Agency reviews materials over the summer. These materials are submitted in a digital format only. Because they are not looking at the print materials, we made our submissions digital only and were reviewed at 100% TEKS and ELPS coverage. Final bid bundles are due to TEA on January 25th, 2020. In our submission for January, we will include bundles for the full print and digital offerings. These bundles will be in EMAT – and customers will be able to purchase bundles that include both print and digital materials. We used this same submission process in previous proclamation submission, and all print materials were listed in our bundles and in EMAT. Please note that all samples will also include the print components for teachers to review.

I also want to assure you that because our print materials will be considered a component of Texas StudySync, they will be under contract with the state for the life of the adoption. This means that we will be contracted by the same deadlines, pricing, and free shipping agreements for our print materials as we are for the digital.

If you have any questions at all, please feel free to reach out directly to me. We are looking forward to sharing this new and exciting resource with you and your teachers.

Warm Regards,

Kim Hayes
